Railways and Rural Development in England and Wales, 1850-1914. Robert M. Schwartz. Mount Holyoke College. Although the drift from the land in rural districts as a whole was continuous throughout the period from 1851 to 1911, the level of out migration varied by decade, accelerating in the 1870s and 1880s and then subsiding gradually in 1890s and sharply in the first decade of the twentieth century to reach a period low. In 1911, the population of rural districts in England and Wales had decreased by about one-half since 1850. (See Table 3.) Table 3.
