DEKALB COUNTY FAIR ASSOCIATION

CODE OF ETHICS

The DeKalb County Fair Association ethics sets a standard of a positive image to the public by presenting receptive behavior with the actions and words of the Association through the Members, Directors, Officers, and Volunteers.

PROCEDURE

Complaints will be presented to the President of the DeKalb County Fair Association who will then follow through with the process of notifying the board of a meeting time and place. The board will discuss the complaint and actions that need taken. A majority (2/3) vote is needed for removal of the individual(s).

DEKALB COUNTY FAIR ASSOCIATION RULES AND REGULATIONS

The fee for an annual voting membership in the DeKalb County Fair Association is five dollars ($5.00). Here after the organization will be referred to as the "Association". Any current paid-up voting member of the Association is entitled to vote at the annual meeting, elections and matters considered at regular or special called membership meetings. A one dollar ($1.00) fee per entry is required for Middaugh Hall entries. Draft Horse and Ponies fees are $5 Exhibitor and $5 fee per class. Saddle Horse fees are $5 Exhibitor fee and $20 stall fee per stall. The exhibitors and others in attendance should examine the following rules and regulations to better understand the manner in which the fair is conducted and to prevent mistakes and misunderstandings which might occur.

1. Entries are open to DeKalb County residents only. No professional entries.
2. All entries should be properly entered and in place according to the specified department and section within the schedule entry time. These entries are expected to remain in place for the entire fair unless previous release arrangements are made with the superintendent in charge.
3. Exhibitors are requested to give personal attention to and care for their property. There will be police on the grounds day and night and officers of the Association will take every precaution with animals, fowl, and exhibits. The Association will take reasonable precautions to prevent accidents and preserve order, but the Association will in no case be responsible for injury to person or damage to, or loss of property on grounds.
4. FOWL AND ANIMAL EXHIBITS:
 - a. All livestock must meet State Health standards for Indiana exhibits at the time of entry. Any fowl or animal that fails this inspection will not be permitted to remain on the fairgrounds.
 - b. If there is need for veterinary service and none is available on the grounds, the exhibitor may contact the department superintendent and have one called. In a circumstance of neglect, poor condition or illness of an animal or fowl, the superintendent may request a committee evaluation and/or the advice of a veterinarian to request the removal of the animal(s) or fowl in question from the fairgrounds.
5. Exhibitors of such animals, machinery in motion or other exhibits liable to cause accidents, shall guard their exhibits and protect the public from injury or damage and shall indemnify the Association from and against all claims, demands, costs, charges, and expenses which it may incur, suffer, or be put to by reason of negligence of the exhibitors or protect the public there from.
6. No claim for injury to any persons shall ever be asserted, no suit instituted or maintained against its officers or agents, by or on behalf of any person, firms, or corporation of their agents, representatives, servants or employees having license or privilege to exhibit at the DeKalb County Free Fall Fair.
7. No DeKalb County resident may serve as judge in any department.
8. Department superintendents and assistants shall not enter items in their department.
9. Exhibits will be released and will be removed from the fairgrounds as scheduled in the respective departments. The Association will not be responsible for exhibits left on the fairgrounds after 6:00 p.m. on Sunday, the last day of the fair.

10. ACCOUNTABILITY: Each department superintendents, Board Member or Chairperson shall be accountable to the Association for all income and expenses pursuant to their responsibility in respective areas. They shall receipt all income to the Association by triplicate copies of all contracts and/or ticket stubs on membership sales.

All expenditures shall be made from funds drawn by voucher from the Association Treasurer or by signature on receipted "Bill of Sale" from open accounts with local merchants (See Section 1 of By-Laws). These shall not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) without prior Executive Committee action and approval.

All premiums aid shall be recorded on Association forms, in duplicate, providing the exhibitor's name and the monetary amount paid. The carbon copies of the forms shall be presented to the Association Treasurer along with any cash remaining after the payments have been made. These can then be reconciled with the vouchered amounts previously granted.

11. The Association officers and directors reserve the right to amend or add to these rules and regulations and may rule on any and all questions not covered. Violations of rules or misrepresentation by exhibitors or others will forfeit all premiums, rights and privileges without recourse.

Amended by Executive Board 5/2017

WHAT IS 4-H?

4-H is the youth educational program of the Cooperative Extension Service. The mission of the Indiana 4-H program is to extend knowledge and technology to help young people become self-directing, productive and contributing members of society. This mission is carried out through the involvement of parents, volunteer leaders, and professional staff who organize and conduct learn-by-doing education experiences in community and family settings. These experiential learning experiences are supported by extension and Research functions of the land-grant universities.

The educational goals and objectives of the 4-H Program are to assist youth and adults to:

1. Acquire knowledge and skills in certain areas of agriculture, home economics, science and technology.
2. Learn to practice leadership skills and fulfill leadership roles.
3. Explore and evaluate career and job opportunities.
4. Develop and practice responsible skills related to the environment.
5. Learn and use accepted practices for mental, physical, emotional, and social health.
6. Participate in community affairs.
7. Acquire a positive self-concept.
8. Establish positive attitudes towards productive use of leisure.
9. Develop communication skills
10. Learn to respect and get along with others.

Traditional 4-H is open to all youth in grades 3-12, regardless of heritage, life circumstances, or place of residence.

Program Impact

4-H is the world's largest out-of-school educational program for youth. During its over 100 years of existence, literally millions of 4-H alumni across the state and nation would attest to the benefits of participation in 4-H. Many developed leadership skills; for others, 4-H helped in choosing a career; and to all, it was a learning experience with friends, under the guidance of caring adults.

Much research supports the impact which 4-H has had over the years. A recent study has shown that former 4-H members today are more active in community activities and participate in leadership roles than non-members. A recent Gallup Poll has also shown that 4-H ranks among the top in public recognition and acclaim when compared with other non-school youth-serving agencies and organizations.

Informal evaluations have also shown that 4-H is effective in improving the difficult-to-measure human attributes or self-esteem, confidence, and the ability to cope with stress.

Has 4-H had an impact? You can find out by making eight random telephone calls, or writing eight letters, or simply stop eight people on the street. At least one out of every eight American has had a 4-H informal education experience.

4-H for the Future

When one considers the many components which must come together in the DeKalb County 4-H program – the recruitment, teaching and development of over 600 youth, the recruitment and training of over 200 volunteer adult leaders, the servicing of nearly 25 4-H clubs, special interest and school enrichment programs, the improvement and management of over 60 educational projects, the planning and coordination of over 30 trips and activities, the management of a $35,000 4-H budget, the planning of Summer Judging and Fall Fair, the securing of financial and resource support from hundreds of donors, agencies and organizations – then one begins to appreciate the scope and complexity of a successful 4-H program.

Hence, volunteer participation and community support is a critical component in being able to conduct all phases of 4-H work. The public/private sector funding, the large volunteer base and the “grassroots” concept for programming make 4-H and Extension unique from all other agencies.

The 4-H and Youth Program continues to be a highly visible and strongly supported part of Extension. The opportunity to teach practical knowledge through projects and develop life skills through working with others remains the highest priorities. 4-H can and should be an important part of Extension as youth are being prepared to meet future challenges.
